

Drug Manufacturer Copayment Assistance Program

Many drugs have programs that provide financial assistance by covering all or part of a person's cost share for a medication, including deductibles and copayments. These programs are funded and supported by the drug manufacturers. HMAA utilizes funding provided by manufacturers to decrease the cost to you and your employer.

How it works:

Member receives a prescription.

Doctor submits the prescription to HMAA for preauthorization.

HMAA directs the prescription to Pharmacare and enrolls the member in the manufacturer's program.

HMAA utilizes the manufacturer's funding to reduce the cost to the health plan.

Member receives medication without any disruption, at little to no copay.

How this differs from traditional drug manufacturer coupons:

Unlike traditional drug coupons that are often restricted for limited use or offered outside an employer-sponsored benefit plan, HMAA's Copayment Assistance Program applies the manufacturer's funding available for a particular medication toward reducing or eliminating your cost share when filling your prescription.

Contact us for help

HMAA will assist you with identifying and enrolling in available Copayment Assistance Programs. If eligible, we'll work with you to utilize these programs to lower the cost of your covered medications, which are ultimately shared by you and HMAA, without compromising the treatment you need.
